
problems with firefox browser

Posted by gacoastalguy - 2009/11/13 10:18

it seems that several people are experiencing problems getting into chat using Firefox browser. I can get to the home page, and sign in, but chat will not load. It worked fine yesterday, but won't work today. Explorer still works but is much slower. Several other people are having this problem. Any suggestions???

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by skidawg08 - 2009/11/13 10:57

Same problem here Karma

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by squeakfreakaleak - 2009/11/13 11:04

Same here.

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by thesixfootmidget - 2009/11/13 11:17

Lmao i thought i was the only one. looks like ill be using chrome.

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by sfraise - 2009/11/13 11:18

I'm using firefox and it seems to be working ok.
We did make some changes on chat to tighten security early this morning which may be causing the issue. More than likely you just need to clear your browser cache and restart your browser.

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by wahkeen - 2009/11/13 12:36

I dont think its a cache issue, I cleared it a bunch of times even manually deleted everything in the cache folders to no avail. this is w/ firefox 3.5.5.

The applet starts to load but just hangs at 0% any ideas what it might be?

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by thesixfootmidget - 2009/11/13 12:50

yeah im still having problems as well

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by tire38 - 2009/11/13 13:20

Looks like it is something to do with the ads that load on the page.

Security Error: Content at <http://googleads.g.doubleclick.net/> may not load data from <http://www.oohya.net/>.

Let me see if I can find a work around.

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by tire38 - 2009/11/13 13:23

didn't mean to say that twice...

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by thesixfootmidget - 2009/11/13 13:31

yea i checked my error console and i get the same thing

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by sfraise - 2009/11/13 14:52

I'm getting the error now too, I'm working on it now.

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by tire38 - 2009/11/13 15:24

from what I can find out it seems its the www.googleads.g.doubleclick.net ... and firefoxes updated security not likeing doubleclick.net ...

take those ads out for a sec and see if you can get in....

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by sfraise - 2009/11/13 15:42

Taking out the adwords code was the first thing I tried, I'm pretty sure the reason chat isn't loading in firefox is either an issue with moving the chat server engine to a lower level directory or enabling some extra security on the server it's self, both of which we did this morning. I'm just not sure why ie is working and firefox isn't. I also noticed that the featured video styling is off now as well so I have a hunch it's due to the security we enabled today.

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by tire38 - 2009/11/13 15:57

yeah... had a few to many beers to really check it.. but from what i read you are right on.. anyway .. have fun... damn firefox... opera is working so atleast I can stay away from ie....

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by sfraise - 2009/11/13 16:59

Google chrome was working also, not sure why firefox had to be so picky.

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by gacoastalguy - 2009/11/14 00:45

Whatever was wrong, you must have gotten fixed. My firefox is working fine this morning. Thanks guys

=====

Re:problems with firefox browser

Posted by OLDpeopleSMELLfunny - 2009/11/14 05:52

fuck fiefox
fuck it fuck it fuck it

=====