Chat Room Sign In Problems

Hey. I keep restarting my computer and signing in and out of this site but I still can't sign into the chat rooms today. I have never had a problem with it until now. The page will load that shows a list of all rooms but then a message pops up saying "Wrong Password". I type my screen name and password at the top but message repeats. What is going on with it?

leeds4eva what does it do when you open the chat window? Have you tried updating your flash? Most issues with not being able to get into chat usually lie in your browser settings, if all else fails try using a different browser, for instance if you use Internet Explorer try using FireFox.

I've seen this problem before. We can reset your password. Contact either SF or myself through private message if you are still having problems.
