What we look for in moderators are people that have been members for a while, are in chat often, & don't start trouble and don't get reported for stirring up trouble.

People ask me on a daily basis if they can be moderators and my short answer to them is no. If we need another moderator we will ask someone that we feel meets our criteria, begging to be a mod will not help.

Well I've got this really great new craftsman zero turn mower so I kind of like mowing my yard, now cleaning up brush around our 40 acres on the other hand....
lol j/k.

Yeah, come and clean up brush, fix all the fence, and get rid of all the poison ivy on the property and I will personally mod you. lol

ZTR is the only way to go if you have more than 2-3 acres.
